WASHINGTON TELEGRAMS.

A MOB GATHERS TO SEE MRS. CLEVELAND LEAVE CHURCH.

She Narrowly Escapes Being Trampled to Death—The Police Preserve Order—The Call of States in the House—Special Delivery a Success—Other Notes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Cleveland has often been annoyed and embarrassed by the curiosity of the public and their not altogether courteous maneuvers to see and hear her on all occasions. She has borne it with the utmost good nature, feeling that it was well meant and at the worst thoughtless. Sunday, however, she experienced a narrow escape from a serious injury at the hands of a veritable and disgraceful mob that gathered at Dr. Sunderland's church to see her leave after the service. This nuisance has been steadily on the increase for some weeks, in spite of the best efforts of the police.

Crowds of people, many of them strangers in town, who have no other opportunity of seeing the president and Mrs. Cleveland, collect on the sidewalk before the main entrance to the church every Sunday upon the conclusion of the service. An extra detail of police is always made on this account, and the crowd is not allowed to obstruct the exit from the church. Yesterday upon the termination of the regular service and before the communion service, a large part of the congregation left the church. The vacant pews were quickly filled up, however, by a throng that poured in to get a glimpse of Mrs. Cleveland. The sidewalk was still black with people, and, as Mrs. Cleveland was leaving the church, accompanied by one of her guests, the crowd caught sight of her and rushed forward, those behind pushing those in front up the steps and into the vestibule.

Mrs. Cleveland was soon in the middle of a surging mass of humanity that could not retreat for those who were pushing forward. Several stumbled and fell upon the steps, whence they were unable to rise, and lay in danger of being trampled to death. A gentleman who had been walking near Mrs. Cleveland cried: "Stop pushing; you will kill some one." The police were quickly summoned, and managed to force the crowd back far enough to make a lane through which Mrs. Cleveland and her friends passed to their carriage. Mrs. Cleveland retained her presence of mind throughout the incident, only paling slightly as the crowd pressed about her. She bowed and smiled pleasantly as the officers lifted their hats, and nodded to several friends whom she recognized as the carriage whirled away.

Senate.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—In the senate today, after the discharge of the routine morning business, Mr. Hoar reported a resolution for a joint meeting of the two houses of congress and an oration by the chief justice on the anniversary of the inauguration of the constitutional government. Mr. Voorhees stated that he hoped this would be followed by some proposition to bring representatives of all the American republics together on this occasion. Mr. Hoar said this was under consideration.

Mr. Riddleberger took the floor, and stated that an international matter having been referred to, he was perhaps in order to discuss his resolution for consideration in open session of the British extradition treaty. He held that treaty in his hand, but could not refer to it without violating an injunction of secrecy. If the senate foreign relations committee proposed an important amendment to that treaty, the public was entitled to know what it was and who favored it. He asked the chairman of the foreign relations committee whether he would answer that question.

Senator Sherman replied that he might as well be asked whether he would pick a pocket or commit another crime or violation of his duty as a senator and a gentleman. He would call the senator from Virginia to order.

The chair announced that any reference to executive business was a violation of the rules and an impropriety which he would prevent. He cautioned Mr. Riddleberger not to transgress further.

Mr. Riddleberger replied by a personal attack on Mr. Sherman and a reference to his letter to a political club, announcing the vote which he intended to cast in secret session on the Lamar nomination. He said that he would accept the decision of the chair, although the country was entitled to the information which he had sought to bring out in open session.

The constitutional centennial resolution was then adopted.

House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—In the house this morning Representative White, of New York, sent to the clerk's desk, and had read, an extract from the New York Tribune, to the effect that "Deacon" White had a private wire from the capital to his office in New York, and exchanged telegrams over it, etc. Mr. White denied the story in toto, and stated that the Tribune of yesterday had also denied the story.

The call of states then proceeded, and the following bills and resolutions were introduced and referred:

Resolutions of the Detroit board of trade in favor of a postal telegraph; bills providing for the exchange of mutilated and worn currency for new; directing the fish commissioner to inquire into the destruction of oysters by star fish; refunding United States four-and-one-half per cent. bonds into two-and-one-half per cents; for a public building at Olney, Ill.; to protect the consumers of butter by licensing dealers in that article; repealing the oleomargarine tax; resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to investigate the New York sugar trust; to divide the surplus in the treasury among the several states and territories for educational purposes; to repeal the tax on notes of state banks; to extend the trade and commerce of the United States and provide for full reciprocity between the United States and Canada.

At the conclusion of the call of states, Speaker Carlisle resumed his official duties with loud applause.

A resolution of thanks to Mr. Cox was adopted. Consideration of the Lowry-White contested election case was then resumed.

Special Delivery System a Success.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—To the delight of officers of the postoffice department, the special delivery system has now proved to be a success. Returns received from all free delivery postoffices for the quarter ending September 30, 1887, showed that 271,523 special delivery letters were delivered, which was a large increase when compared with the previous quarter. For the quarter ending December 31 last the returns received show an increase in the business of 18.6 per cent. over the September quarter. The normal increase in the general postal business during the same period was less than 10 per cent., which shows that the special delivery service is increasing more rapidly than the general postal business. "It is a pronounced success," said a prominent officer of the department to the United Press, "and its best feature is that the government cannot lose a cent, for if no letters are delivered no expense is incurred."

That Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Mills, Breckinridge and a few other free trade members of the committee on ways and means have almost finished their tariff bill. It is said this morning that the Mills bill will be submitted to the committee on Wednesday, and that it will be reported to the house for discussion two weeks from to-day.

In the meantime it is the purpose of the Democrats to amend the rules of the house so that amendments pertaining to internal revenue may be made to the tariff bill. After the tariff bill is reported to the house it will doubtless be debated for six or eight weeks. There are no fewer than a hundred men who want to speak on it and who want their speeches printed in order that they may be circulated as campaign documents.

A Decision of the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The supreme court of the United States to-day decided that a government clerk is not a government officer. One Douglas, a clerk in the office of the collector of customs at New York was tried for embezzling government funds under the law which provides for the punishment of government officers embezzling funds. The court held that as Douglas was merely a clerk, appointed and removable at the will of the collector, he is not a government officer under the law.

Senator Blackburn Ill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Senator Blackburn while calling on a friend yesterday, was taken suddenly ill and carried to his hotel in an unconscious condition. The physicians pronounced it a case of nervous prostration. The senator has been far from well since his return from California. He was reported better this morning. But no visitors allowed to see him, the physicians having ordered that the patient be kept perfectly quiet.

TO SAVE MAXWELL.

The Efforts Being Made to Have Governor Moorehouse to Commute His Sentence.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 7.—John I. Martin left last night for New York to meet Mr. Brooks, father of the prisoner known as Maxwell. Mr. Brooks sailed last Saturday for this country, and is expected to reach this city by next Saturday, if not before. He will probably stop over a day in New York and will then come on with his son's attorney.

As soon as Mr. Brooks arrives here he will get to work on his Masonic and other friends and do everything in his power to secure executive clemency. Already the petitions to be circulated have been drawn up and are being circulated about for signatures. They merely state that the signers, being familiar with the trial, would recommend that Governor Moorehouse commute the sentence to imprisonment in the penitentiary for such a period as he deems best.

Awaiting the Day of His Doom.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—One of the most important matters to come before the state supreme court, which opens its regular term to-day, is the fixing of the date for the execution of the murderer, Maxwell. No appeal for clemency has yet been made to the governor on behalf of the condemned man, but as soon as the day for the hanging has been set his counsel will inaugurate a vigorous movement with that end in view. Maxwell's father will reach here from England before the end of the week, and his arrival is being anxiously awaited by the wretched man.

Maxwell's Father Arrives.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Among the cabin passengers who arrived on the steamer Aurania to-day was Mr. Brooks, the father of the assassin of C. Arthur Feller, who is now under condemnation of death at St. Louis for his crime. Mr. Brooks believes his son was unjustly convicted and that the final decision was the most unfair ever given in a supreme court. He is satisfied, however, with his son's lawyers.

Three Constables Arrested.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 7.—Three constables, named Pierce, Potts and Hamilton, were arrested last night upon a charge of having been influenced by a bribe. It is said three liquor firms made up a purse of $300 as the price of the constables release of some liquor recently seized, and that the bribe was accepted. The constables after being released on bail, swore out writs of replevin for the money, which Justice Mathes took from them when he searched them. They proceeded to serve the warrants themselves, but the justice refused to deliver up the money as it constituted the vital evidence of their crime. The constables then attempted to arrest the court, but his honor demurred and they were forced to return the writs unserved. The evidence is believed to be sufficient to convict.

A $15,000 Assignment.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—The Folding Hat Rack company, doing business at 203 and 205 East Front street, assigned at 10:40 to-day to George M. Boyde. Liabilities, $15,000; nominal assets the same. A preference of $9,105 was given in favor of George W. Hamilton. The failure was due to poor trade and small capital.

Serious Row Between Brothers-in-Law.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Feb. 7.—During a drunken affray Saturday night James Torian cut his brother-in-law, Julius Carter, upon the head with a knife, inflicting a serious, if not fatal wound. The trouble was over family matters. Torian is in jail, awaiting the result of Carter's wound.

SHOEMAKERS' LOCKOUT.

EACH SIDE AWAITING FOR THE OTHER TO ACT.

A Sensation Brewing in Cincinnati Among the Knights—A Pittsburgh Iron Mill Resumes Work With Non-Union Men—Cigar-makers Strike Against a Cut—Labor.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 7.—The shoemakers' lockout remains unabated. Each side is waiting for the other to make advances, and the Knights of Labor District Assembly No. 48, is holding off awaiting a formal notice of the difficulty.

"We will hold out," said Manufacturer Gerstle, "until we have perfect assurance that we can run our own business. We ought in Cincinnati to do $11,000,000 worth of business annually, but trade is ruined by labor troubles. Within three years a dozen shoe factories have left here or assigned, among them Smith, Stoughton & Paine; Salzenstein, Gerstle & Company; Thorne & Company; D. Catellier & Company; Hoover & Glidden; P. Haggerty & Son; J. A. Marshall; Butterworth & Company; Aaron Brown, and Wolf & Company."

The local firms in the association have called in their traveling salesmen and paid off their employees. The indications are that the lockout has come to stay for a while. A big sensation is brewing in local Knight of Labor circles. Six of the eight shoemakers' assemblies have requested Charles H. Litchman, National Knight of Labor secretary, to transfer them from District No. 48 to the Shoemakers' National Trade District No. 216. District Master Workman Hugh Cavanaugh has filed a protest against the transfer.

The Situation on the Reading.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 7.—Everything is quiet throughout the region to-day. The Reading company continued their effort to resume work as the same collieries as had been started last week, excepting those about Shenandoah, where all was kept in idleness. Lawrence Colliery, at Mahanoy Plane, operated by Lawrence & Brown, which has been working but were not permitted to ship, began shipments this morning. The first thing done being to have the 280 loaded cars run out on the Reading line and hauled to Gordon.

The men are working harmoniously. It was expected that Draper and Laurel Ridge collieries would start to-day, but for some unknown reason the men did not report. William Penn continued working, although with not as full a force as last week. The above individual collieries have signed the agreement to pay the advance demanded, and also divert all shipments from the Reading road at the first connecting point. Suffolk is the only Reading colliery working near Shenandoah.

Father O'Reilly, of Shenandoah, in his discourse yesterday in referring to the riotous demonstrations of the fast few days, congratulated his flock upon the fact that they had taken his advice, and it could not be said that any of them were identified with the mob of law breakers. He was particularly severe in denunciation of the rioters. The Polish priest also denounced the rioters and exhorted them to desist from any further infraction of the law; he also admonished them that they would be promptly punished by the law of the land, which recognized no mob violence or force. It is believed this will go far toward quieting his people.

Trouble is expected to-night at 6 o'clock, when the men return to the Suffolk collieries. The Poles and Hungarians about Shamokin are getting restless and fresh trouble is expected there also. Theodore Garretson, son-in-law of the late Judge Donaldson, a prominent individual, coal operator and Republican politician, dropped dead here this morning.

Resumed With Non-Union Men.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—There has been no further trouble at the Solar iron works, the scene of the serious outbreak on Saturday. The mill was closed yesterday, but started up this morning with an increased force of non-union men. Over one hundred men, all colored, are now at work, and the firm expect to see every department in operation within the next few days.

The mills and yards are closely guarded by sentinels and policemen, and no person, not even a boy, is allowed upon the premises unless he can prove he has business there. The strikers are very bitter and another collision is feared when the non-union men leave the mill this evening. Those in authority and those who have the coolest heads advise the workmen to not molest nor interfere with the colored men, but others cry for revenge. They threaten death to the non-union men and hint of the firing of the mill. Young Kenna, who was shot on Saturday, is believed to be out of danger.

Won't Stand the Cut.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Three hundred cigar-makers, comprising employees of five large shops, refused to go to work this morning, owing to the proposed cut in wages. The other shops either do not belong to the Manufacturers' union or have not posted the cut-down.

Oklahoma Convention.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 7.—It is expected that about one thousand delegates will attend the convention here next Wednesday to urge the opening of that part of the Indian Territory known as Oklahoma to settlement.

Injured By Exploding Pitch.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—Henry Eppelheimer, of 234 McKicken avenue, while putting pitch on a oak at Sohn's brewery yesterday, was badly burned by the stuff exploding. He was removed to his home and may die.

The Directors Not Liable.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—Judge Sage has decided that bank directors are not criminally liable for the acts of cashiers unless their connection with the crime is definitely shown.

Won't Surrender the Hatfield Gang.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 7.—Governor Buckner has refused the demand of West Virginia to surrender the members of the Hatfield gang, who were abducted from that state.

CINCINNATI'S METROPOLITAN BANK.

It Suspends Payment but Resumes After a Short Delay.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—The Metropolitan bank suspended payment this morning. Depositors were on hand early, and up to 10 o'clock about forty of them had congregated before the paying teller's desk, but cash was not handed out.

One of them carried an immense gripsack large enough to make a tour of Europe with. He also clutched several checks, one of which was for $14,000. He was possibly a bank messenger.

The faces of the depositors bore evidence of great anxiety. They eyed each other curiously, and each appeared to envy the advantage of the one nearest the paying teller's window.

"How's the bank this morning," was asked of President Means.

"All right," he replied, in a manner that was not enthusiastic at all. When further questioned he walked hurriedly away.

"Why have they suspended payment?" was asked.

"They do not wish to run too heavily on their cash. They have sufficient assets but not enough cash on hand," replied Louis Krohn, one of the directors.

Shortly after 11 o'clock a. m. Mr. Krohn was elected vice president, to succeed John R. DeCamp. The bank resumed payment, cashing all demands. Cashier Edwards says the bank will not have any further embarrassment. The paying teller of the bank claims that they have not suspended.

The bank officials claim to be so busy that they could not talk about the affairs of the bank.

Dr. McGlynn's Threat.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—In his address to the Anti-Poverty society Sunday night, Dr. McGlynn, in explaining his request that no more meetings of sympathy with him be held by his former parishioners, said that he should never return to the ministry. In order for him to do so, either the church would have to undergo a revolution of methods, or he would have to retract what he had said of those methods. The latter was impossible. The former was impossible at present. If those whose methods were injuring the church followed him with the arts of which they were masters, he would expose them. He warned them that he possessed knowledge that, if revealed, would make America too hot to hold some of them. It would be prudent to let him alone.

Granville on the Rack.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—Granville was cross-examined this morning by Converse, who, beginning near London, England, twenty-nine years ago, took the witness on a second voyage of life. He discovered all he had ever done or thought of, and all the different aliases and questionable transactions he had ever been engaged in, the purpose being, of course, to discredit his testimony of Saturday. He made him confess to being a convict, and to having done unlawful things.

Resumed After Two Months' Idleness.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The North Chicago Rolling Mill company's plant at South Chicago, the largest of its kind in this country, resumed operations to-day, after being closed for more than two months while repairing. During all this time not a rail has been made, but seven or eight hundred men have been kept busy in solidifying the monster machinery, which is to turn out between four or five hundred tons of finished rails daily for nine or ten months to come.

A Freshman Suicides.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 7.—Charles E. Schweyer, aged eighteen years, a freshman at Amherst college, and son of Edward Schweyer, a malt dealer of New York City shot himself through the head last night and will probably die. He had lately undergone an operation for removal of a tumor from his face and was despondent. He had also told his companions that a professor had wrongly accused him of dishonesty. He was well liked at the college.

Farmer Funk's Forgeries.

DELPHOS, O., Feb. 7.—Recent developments would indicate that the forgeries of Samuel L. Funk, whose crooked operations have lately been shown up, will run close up to $4,500. If this be true his property will fall to pay all claims. Reports from Rimer, his home, state that he has left for parts unknown, probably Canada, leaving a wife and several children in destitute circumstances. No efforts will be made by the victimized to secure his extradition.

Hog Thieves Get a Dose.

HAMBURG, Iowa, Feb. 7.—Farmers in this vicinity have suffered much from the depredation of hog thieves. Saturday night, Charles Thiessen, son of prominent stock raiser, received an intimation that a raid was to be made on his hogs. He laid in wait for them and fired a load of buckshot at the thieves. A worthless character named Holt, was killed, and a man named Rhambo was probably fatally injured.

A $30,000 Robbery.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 7.—The safe of Chapman & Gale, jewelers, was forced open by burglars, between 12 and 6 o'clock, Sunday morning, and robbed of $30,000 worth of watches, diamonds and jewelry. The work was evidently done by professionals, as only diamonds and gold were carried off, Rhine stones and plated ware being left behind.

Fifteen Horses Burned.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—A fire which broke out at an early hour this morning in the basement of the building No. 308 East Fifty-sixth street, completely destroyed the structure. Fifteen horses in the blacksmith shop of James Dowd, on the first floor, were cremated. The total loss is $5,000 to $10,000.

Scarlet Fever Epidemic.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 7.—Scarlet fever is prevailing in Pana, on the Ohio & Mississippi railway, to such an extent that the public schools have been closed. There has been two deaths and fifteen cases of the disease were reported Saturday.

A Stage Struck Maiden.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—A pretty miss, who gave her name as Laura Dennis, aged eighteen years, was arrested on her arrival here from Chicago. She is stage struck, and ran away from her parents, who are said to be wealthy.

On other versions of ancient date, referred above, were the Syriac which there were several. It is now generally held by scholars that the oldest of these versions was the Curtonian Syriac. The Peshito, as authority by Mr. Garrett. (See discussion, and affirmed in Hammond's Text Criticism, pp. 51, 52) The Peshito really has about the same relation to the Curtonian Syriac that the Vulgate does to the Latin. Yet Mr. Garrett thinks he has a strong argument to the fact that the Syriac versions translate kapito, but in this he is very seriously mistaken. The Syriac belongs to the Semitic family of languages of which the Hebrew, Arabic, and Ethiopic are members. It has all of the languages of Semitic maintenance, and know that verbal roots are generally common to them all. The early Syriac translations have little or no weight

A lively scrimmage followed during which Dan Rice was slightly cut several times in one of his arms.

MANY of our citizens will remember Charles L. Pomeroy, who spent some time a year or so ago in a small boat a short distance above Aberdeen. His boat was wrecked a few days ago in Barrataria Bay in the South, and he and three others were drowned. He was well known throughout the East as a lecturer on natural science.

GOVERNOR BUCKNER is making a splendid record as a vetoer. The Legislature passed an act a few days ago chartering the Rugby Railroad and Mining Company, allowing the company five years to commence work on the road and ten years to complete it. The Governor thought so much time would be unjust to other companies who might want to build in some locality, and he was not slow to tell the Legislature so.

Grayson Arrested.

Alfred Grayson, who was recently acquitted of burglarizing Tolle's store at Cabin Creek, was arrested at 2 o'clock this morning in a building in "Owen's Row" by Deputy Marshal Dawson, and lodged in the station house. Mr. Dawson understood that Grayson is wanted at Manchester on some charge, and he will be held until the authorities at that place can be heard from.

A Complaint From Mr. Hawley.

J. M. Hawley writes a long letter to the BULLETIN concerning the robbery of his store at Forman Springs and the arrest of Charley Jones in this city on the charge of committing the offense. Mr. Hawley complains at the charges made by some of the officers. We give his own language:

"In case a robbery would occur every few days, it would be a feast for Maysville officers. The officers recovered $87.40 cash, and were very anxious to charge me $50 of that for making the arrest of such a daring boy robber—seventeen years of age and but little experience—and I really finding the boy myself, and would have made the arrest had I had the authority they had."

How Iron Becomes Brittle.

"Vibration, when continued for a long time," said the superintendent of an iron foundry, "causes iron to lose its tenacity, and it becomes granulated and brittle, something like pig iron, instead of being long in the grain like wrought iron."

"How do you account for this?" said the reporter.

"I do not know," was the reply. "There are many things about iron that no one can explain."

"What do you think of the chance of the elevated roads having a long lease of life? Is there any likelihood of their breaking down through the iron of which they are made becoming brittle?"

"Not for a good many years, but certainly the vibration is bound to affect them through time and something may snap. They ought to be inspected very closely and renewed before the time came when it would be dangerous to ride on them. I have known heavy iron beams snap through vibration which looked perfectly sound, and at the point of breakage were apparently as strong as in any other part, but the cohesiveness was gone and the sections presented a granulated instead of a fibrous appearance."

"Does the iron of rails when they are of wrought iron become brittle also?" said the reporter.

"No," said his informant, "they do not. They acquire an entirely new property, or rather they lose one essential property, that of capacity for being welded. Every blacksmith knows that a bit of wrought iron rail cannot be welded if it has been worn for a number of years. The parts split into fibers when heated and struck, but do not weld together."

"How do you account for the iron being affected differently?"

"I do not know. All I do know is that it is the case, and every intelligent blacksmith will tell you the same."—New York Evening Telegram.

She Was Not Ready to Marry.

NEWARK, O., Feb. 7.—William McFarland and Mrs. Mary Booker appeared before Justice Scott yesterday for the purpose of being married, but just before the final words were spoken the bride withdrew her hand from that of McFarland, and remarking, "I guess I'm not ready yet; wait awhile," turned and left the room with her two children. The groom seized his hat and followed but all his pleadings were in vain. Mrs. Booker remained immovable and would give no reason for her sudden change of mind. McFarland is twenty years old, and Mrs. Booker is about forty.

A Ghastly Find.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—The body of a woman horribly mutilated was found in the alley between Elm and Plum and Twelfth and Grant streets Sunday afternoon. A dog that was feasting on the remains attacked Officer Tinsley when he attempted to drive him away. The body is supposed to have come from some medical college.

A Church Burned at Fremont, Ohio.

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 7.—The Methodist Episcopal church, at Fremont, O., was totally destroyed by fire at noon Monday. The church was built in 1884 at a cost of $23,000. It was insured for $10,000. Ex-President Hayes is a member of this church, and when it was built gave $6,000 toward the enterprise. He stands ready now to duplicate his former subscription. During the progress of the fire, the north wall of the church fell outward dropping on top of the parsonage, crushing that building flat to the ground. A Miss Day, was in the second story assisting in moving the pastor's effects, was carried through two floors to the cellar with the debris, and taken out alive, but fatally injured.

Wreck on the Reading.

READING, Pa., Feb. 7.—A coal train on the Reading railway collided with a freight train at Port Clinton at 2 o'clock this morning. The locomotive and thirty-five cars were badly wrecked. The cars were piled up in six different places and it required the service of two wrecking crews until noon today to clear the tracks. Traffic was greatly delayed and all passengers had to be transferred. Loss $8,000. No one was injured.

The Big mine colliery operated by the Taylor & Tale at Ashland, started up this morning with a full force of hands. The East colliery operated by the Reading company at the same place will start up to-morrow with a small force of hands.

Succeeded the Third Attempt.

AKRON, O., Feb. 7.—S. S. Totman, a wealthy farmer of Sharon, Medina county, suicided in the Medina jail this morning by taking laudanum. Totman was soon to be taken to the penitentiary for seven years for shooting his cousin, Thomas Briggs, in a quarrel over money matters. Totman shot himself at the time of the murder, and after being put in jail tried to cut his throat, but he recovered both times.

The question has often been asked, "When do tugboatmen sleep?" In point of fact, so far as disrobing and lying down in bed, nothing of that kind ever occurs to their experience; but still they manage to obtain a full and, in fact, liberal allowance of slumber, because they have trained themselves to lie down at any time and in any shape, where the temperature is high enough, without any formality of divesting themselves of clothing, and at once dropping off to sleep for an hour or as much more as is possible. In this way, it may be confidently asserted, twelve out of each twenty-four hours of a tugboatman's life may be devoted to slumber if he so chooses, and is, indeed, generally spent in this manner.—New York World.

IN BREATHLESS SUSPENSE.

EUROPEAN CAPITALS AWAITING BIS-MARCK'S DECISION.

The Gauls Will Meet a Warm Reception if They Attack Either Germany or Italy.
Austria's Facilities for Mobilizing Very Inferior—Foreign News Notes

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The continental capitals are awaiting in breathless suspense the decisive words which it is expected Bismarck will utter to-day on the war question before the reichstag. It is asserted that the Iron Chancellor means mischief, and that Count Von Moltke submitted to the imperial council last week a completed draft of a war campaign, suppositions are intended, the boldness of which astounded his colleagues.

Germany's treaty with Italy is analogous to the Austro-German treaty, the name of France being substituted for that of Russia. It stipulates that if France attacks either of the contracting powers the other is to send 800,000 men to the French frontier immediately.

The National Zeitung has telegrams from St. Petersburg and Vienna stating, under reserve, that Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador to Germany, who is now returning to Berlin, will bring conciliatory proposals from the czar.

It is stated that a new mobilization scheme of France has been betrayed in Berlin by an ex-official.

The publication of the Austro-German treaty makes it certain that Russia will want the friends of France.

If the object of the formation of the tripartite alliance was to secure the peace of Europe, as was ostentatiously proclaimed at the time of its consummation, it does not appear to have produced that confidence in a continued freedom from hostilities that was promised. Germany appears to be anything but sure of the availability of her allies in case of a sudden emergency, and she certainly has not averted her possible foes by the accession to her resources.

The Berlin Post does not hesitate to speak slightly of the discipline of the Austrian forces, notably of the landwehr and institutes very unfavorable comparisons between the Austrian troops and the German army.

Most military men think the objection well founded, but it was hardly wise to proclaim such opinions in so public a manner. Of course the Austrians are highly offended by the derogatory remarks and the Vienna journals ask what would be said at Berlin were they to speak in a similarly contemptuous manner of the German soldiery.

Austria would have to bear the first shock of the Russian forces in case of war, and her facilities for mobilizing her forces have been shown by recent events to be very inferior. Italy's generals have certainly gained no laurels in the campaign against such a power as Abyssinia, and the central government at Rome has shown a glaring incompetency that must be far from assuring to Germany. Much precious time has been wasted, and unfavorable comparisons are being made at home between the English campaign under Lord Napier, and the policy which has permitted the Italian troops to remain cooped up at Massowah to be decimated by disease.

In France, King Humbert's army is sneeringly referred to as the "Italian militia." The little reliance which Prince Bismarck places upon such doubtful and lukewarm supporters is manifested by his forcing through the reichstag a virtual augmentation to the German army of more than half a million of men and the enormous extraordinary credit of 280,000,000 marks. He evidently feels that Germany must be strong enough in herself to face her foes alone, and it won't be his fault if she isn't.

A dispatch from Vienna says that garrisons of several Russian frontier towns were reinforced last week by an extra regiment of infantry and six squadrons of cavalry.

Bismarck in the Reichstag.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—Prince Bismarck made his expected appearance to-day in the reichstag. The galleries of the chamber were filled to repletion with spectators. Princes William and Leopold occupied the court box and the diplomatic gallery was crowded. When the chancellor entered the reichstag he was received with a saloon of deafening cheers. There was profound silence in the chamber when the chancellor rose to speak. In his speech he said:

"I do not believe that I can add anything to the true state of the case regarding the land bill and that I will not touch. My object is to speak of the general situation in Europe, and I may confine myself to referring to what I said on the subject over a year ago. There has been very little change since that time when I feared that a war between Germany and France might occur. Since then, however, France has elected a peace-loving president. I can therefore reassure public opinion that so far as the prospects in that direction are concerned, France has become more peaceful. Regarding Russia, also, I am of no other opinion now than when I said that we have to apprehend no attack from Russia. The situation must not be judged from the comments of the press."

Russians Expect to Advance.

VIENNA, Feb. 7.—The Tagblatt publishes a dispatch from its correspondent at Cracow stating that the conviction is prevalent among the officers and subordinates of the Russian army in that region that they will receive orders to advance within a fortnight. Everything, the correspondent says, is in readiness for a forward movement, and the desire of the men to execute it is almost uncontrollable.

The publication of the Austro-German treaty is said to have been urged by Bismarck last November, but Austria objected, in hopes that Russia would not proceed to extremities. The attempts to bring about a reconciliation between Russia and France have been known in Berlin for some time, and as an alliance appeared imminent, it hastened the final publication of the treaty.

The Czar Reconciled.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The czar has become reconciled to M. Floquet, and on February 13 the Russian ambassador will dine with the French statesman. This evidently means an alliance between Russia and France. England is in the background as a possible third ally.

Most of the Paris papers welcome the publication of the Austro-German treaty as likely to further estrange Germany and Russia, and to bind Russia and France. Some papers advocate an alliance of England, France and Russia against the triple alliance.
